📖 The Original Legend

Flappy Bird was created by Nguyễn Hà Đông, a Vietnamese indie developer, in 2013. It became a global phenomenon by early 2014 — simultaneously topping iOS and Android charts worldwide.

At its peak, the game earned around $50,000 per day in ad revenue. On February 10, 2014, Đông removed it from all app stores, citing concern about how addictive it had become — turning it into an instant legend.

It remains one of the most culturally significant mobile games ever made, inspiring thousands of tributes and an entire genre of one-tap games.
